Christina Lawrie

Hailed as a rising star by the magazine International Piano, Scottish pianist Christina Lawrie made her debut in May 2009 with the Royal Scottish National Orchestra in Dundee's Caird Hall.

Christina was a pupil of Jean Hutchison at the Music School of Douglas Academy in Glasgow. She went on to study at Chetham's School of Music with the Polish pianist and teacher Ryszard Bakst before reading Music at Trinity College, Cambridge. Subsequently the Royal College of Music awarded her a Leverhulme Postgraduate Studentship, enabling her to study with Yonty Solomon. She was also a pupil of Vanessa Latache at the Royal Academy of Music, and has undertaken further study with Sergei Babayan and Joan Havill.

Christina's debut at London's world-renowned Wigmore Hall was praised by Musical Opinion magazine for its "astute intelligence and warmth of spirit". In 2004 she gave her debut recital at London's South Bank Centre, in the Park Lane Group Young Artists Series. The Observer praised her "formidable intellect and boundless technique...Fantastic playing", and Musical Opinion described her as "a very gifted young player..." As a result of this recital, when one of the 2005 PLG Young Artists dropped out, six weeks before the concert, Christina was asked to step in for the 2005 series. Musical Pointers remarked of her performance "In a few weeks and by special request she had learnt the complete programme already scheduled for an indisposed PLG Young Artist. That included Tippett's rhapsodic and elusive 4th sonata, played from memory with complete assurance and remarkable aplomb; an astonishing feat of professionalism."

Christina has won a host of accolades on a national and international level. She was a finalist in the Piano Section of the Royal Overseas League Music Competition in London, and a winner of the Blackheath Hall Young Artists auditions, as well being a prizewinner at the Marsala International Piano Competition. She also reached the finals of the Madrid International Piano Competition "Compositores de España". As a 16-year-old student of Ryszard Bakst, she was a prizewinner in the National Mozart Competition and, the following year, in the Bromsgrove International Young Musicians' Platform.

Christina is very grateful to all her patrons and sponsors. Giving back to the community, her fundraising performances for good causes including Cash for Kids, Dundee Disabled Children, Rotary Club and Haddo House Choral Society.

Chopin's Ballades are single-movement pieces, considered to some of the most challenging in the piano repertoire. The fourth and final Ballade was composed in Paris in 1842. According to the great British pianist John Ogdon, "it is the most exalted, intense and sublimely powerful of all Chopin's compositions ... It is unbelievable that it lasts only twelve minutes, for it contains the experience of a lifetime."
